

Maine's Healthcare Crisis by the numbers - 2025

National health spending continues to grow at a rapid clip, year after year, with the latest figures from 2023 showing a 7.5% increase from 2022, to \$4.87 trillion. That's more than enough to finance all medically necessary care for every U.S. resident while totally eliminating out-of-pocket spending.

1. 40,000 Mainers are losing Mainecare coverage, including at least 3000 refugees and new immigrants.
2. Maine Department of Health and Human Services officials predict more than 31,000 Mainers could lose Medicaid coverage in the first year as a result of eligibility hurdles and other challenges. (Over 90,000 MaineCare members will be subject to work requirements.)
3. Over 100,000 Mainers with private health insurance through the ACA marketplace are facing double-digit increases in their premiums, and tens of thousands more with employer-based health insurance are facing 10% - 30% increases.
4. Nearly half of Maine households have incurred medical debt in the past two years, and a large majority – two out of three – had health insurance at the time.
5. Half of Mainers with commercial insurance currently report difficulties affording their deductibles, and nearly as many struggle to pay their coinsurance, premiums, or copayments.
6. More than a quarter of Mainers with commercial insurance have had a claim denied by their insurance company.
7. One out of three Mainers say they postponed filling or refilling a prescription, split pills in half, skipped doses of medicine, or did not fill a prescription at all due to cost.
8. Four birthing units have closed in Maine in 2025 alone, and our rural residents are facing longer drives to access birthing services, with an average of 45 minutes one-way to the nearest hospital with a birthing unit.
9. Inland hospital has closed, DFD Russell clinic in Bridgton is closing, and several other programs at hospitals and clinics throughout the state are at risk of closing.
10. 370,000 Mainers have Anthem insurance. All Anthem insurance holders are facing out-of-network charges at all facilities in the Northern Light health care system. An estimated 50,000 Mainers used Northern Light with Anthem in the past year.
11. All of the for-profit insurance companies doing business in Maine are recording record profits while continuing to seek more ways to limit access to care and limit reimbursements to medical providers.

The solution: Studies done here in Maine show that by controlling costs, reducing providers' administrative burdens, getting rid of waste and eliminating excess profits, a state-based universal healthcare system could cover all of us for about what we are currently spending on health care in Maine.
